Public Protests Halt Antimissile Defenses

Britain Step Closer To Joining Common Market

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Britain stood a step closer today to its goal of joining Western Europe despite the opposition of President Charles de Gaulle.

It had a promise from five of the six countries of the Common Market to consult on world problems before decisions are made.

Jean de Lipkowski, representing the French Foreign Ministry, said he would give his country's answer in three months.

"What else could I do?" he asked a reporter, who thought he looked unhappy. De Gaulle twice has vetoed British efforts to join the Common Market.

Status Talks

Britain, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg agreed Thursday not to act on a world issue without talking it over in attempt to reach a common view.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said he would begin by inviting ambassadors from all six countries—including France—to talk over the position Britain should take with the United States, the Soviet Union and France on the Middle East.

The invitations are to go out next week. It remains to be seen whether Geoffrey de Courcel, French ambassador in London, accepts.

The promise of consultations took on special importance in view of President Nixon's coming trip to Europe. President Johnson's administration made it plain that it was eager to have Western Europe speak with one voice, even if it meant that American influence might some times suffer. President Nixon, too, has said that he wants to see Western Europe united, including Britain.

Increase Influence

From the European viewpoint, the important thing is the chance for more influence in world affairs in which individual European countries by themselves now have comparatively little.

The British hope for economic as well as political advantages if they draw closer to the prosperous Continental nations of the Common Market.

The framework in which this may be done is the Western European Union (W.E.U.), originally a military organization that includes both Britain and the six countries which later formed the Common Market.

The decision on consultation came Thursday on the first day of a regular two-day WEU meeting.

Today the meeting turned to economic reports on the situation in the Common Market, and in the European Free Trade Association (EFTA) made up of Britain and six other European nations.

Pentagon Mail Shows Concern Of Large Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Widening public protests against the Sentinel antimissile system apparently were significant in the Nixon administration's decision to hold up work and take another look at the project.

The protests, centering in a half dozen metropolitan areas chosen for antimissile installations, have resulted in a surge of letters to congressmen and senators.

Critical mail reaching the Pentagon, some referred by the White House, also reflects concern of people living elsewhere in the country. The letters express worry about the growth of nuclear weapons and any possible negative effect the U.S. antimissile system would have on arms control talks with Soviet Union.

The rising public objections are credited with winning some recruits to a Senate group which last year failed in a series of legislative efforts to block funds for the Sentinel. They hope to succeed this year.

Mid-March Discussion

Even some previously unswerving supporters of the Sentinel, such as Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of the House Armed Services Committee, are showing signs of uncertainty. Rivers has postponed his committee's consideration of proposed antimissile sites until the administration makes up its mind.

The Chicago Sun-Times reported in a copyright story today, quoting Senate sources, that the administration has already decided not to deploy the Sentinel system although it plans to go ahead with antimissile research and development.

The newspaper said the administration plans to announce its decision in mid-March along with the announcement of arrangements for arms control talks with the Soviet Union.

A Pentagon analysis of editorial reaction concluded that a significant number of newspapers which previously supported the Sentinel program began late last year to advance reasons for delay.

Create Furor

The analysis, prepared last month, said that "the actual selection of Sentinel sites near several large cities in late 1968 increased the demands for further public discussion."

Army officials said the major protest movement started last mid-November in Chicago, proposed site for a Sentinel base, led by a group of nuclear physicists.

Other opposition has arisen in Detroit, Seattle, Wash., Boston, Los Angeles, San Francisco and the New York area, Army officials said.

Basically, scientists who have led the opposition in Chicago and Detroit have concentrated their attack on two main points:

No Danger

—That the presence of the Sentinel system's Spartan missile would present a potential danger of accidental nuclear explosion of its warhead, packing the explosive equivalent of a million pounds of TNT.

—That the presence of antimissile complexes would actually increase the danger to a city by making it a military target for enemy missiles.

Army authorities counter that there is no danger of an accidental atomic explosion.

Army authorities argue that the Sentinel is deployed to protect critical areas and that important production centers like Chicago and Detroit undoubtedly already are prime targets on the attack list of potential enemies.

These officials contend the real motive of the scientist leaders of the organized protests is its grounded in their general opposition to nuclear weapons and their fear of a new arms race with Russia.

Lodge Warns Of False Optimism In Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam peace talks face the prospect of a sterile deadlock that some delegates believe could continue for months.

Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge warned against "false optimism" after Thursday's fruitless third session which lasted six hours.

"Although we do our best to achieve progress," Lodge told newsmen, "the going is hard. Therefore there must be no false optimism, but we must not be discouraged."

In the meeting, Lodge again asked North Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front to drop polemics and propaganda statements and get down to specific de-escalation measures beginning with restoration of the demilitarized zone.

The Hanoi and NLF delegates repeated their rejection of any de-escalation measure not linked with a political settlement.

It was a day of charges and countercharges; what one Asian diplomat described as "a dialogue of deaf mutes."

Spokesmen of all four delegations agreed that, once again, progress was nil. The only decision was to meet again next Thursday.

The National Liberation Front's chief negotiator, Tran Bui Kiem, and his spokesman, Ly Van Sao, appeared to harden their conditions for a settlement.

Nixon For Russian Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has indicated he would be willing to hold a summit meeting with Soviet leaders if lower-level talks show progress, preferably on both political and military matters.

Nixon aides say whether these conditions are met could be determined in the weeks ahead by the success of preliminary talks already started with the Soviet Union on a possible push for a Middle East settlement.

At his Thursday news conference, Nixon said he takes a dim view of "instant summits" but expressed the view he should meet with Soviet leaders "at a future time."

Preparation

After returning March 3 from his projected five-nation European tour Nixon said, he intends "to conduct exploratory talks at various levels to see if such a meeting could take place."

But he cautioned that any summit meeting should be well prepared and that the agenda should cover "various differences that we have, on which we can perhaps make progress."

The Soviets have expressed willingness to begin talks aimed at limitations on some strategic nuclear weapons but have not indicated whether parallel, if separate, discussions on political matters would be welcomed.

Nixon, it was said, seeks progress on both military and political negotiations believing a successful summit could grow out of such development.

Talks on the Middle East crisis will, of course, be studied closely here for evidence that the United States and the Soviets might manage to carve out common ground on political as well as military problems.

Look For Agreements

During his forthcoming "working trip" to Belgium, West Germany, Italy, Great Britain and France, associates reported Nixon would search not only for areas of agreement among allied leaders but expressions of disagreement.

They said his ultimate aim is to strengthen ties with North Atlantic Treaty Organization members and give them a sense of full participation in alliance affairs.

This was the explanation given for Nixon's decision to stop first at NATO headquarters in Belgium.

White House sources said there is no political significance to the timing of other stops, although some observers wondered why the President was winding up his trip in France, one of the thinner reeds in NATO, before returning home via the Vatican where he will confer with Pope Paul VI.

Nixon's decision to fly to West Berlin was said to reflect his determination to dramatize the commitment of four previous administrations to preserve the status quo in that Western enclave encircled by Communist East Germany.

Wayne Board Reduces Salary

DETROIT (AP)—Salaries and allowances for Wayne County Supervisors will dip from an estimated $20,000 a year to $4,000, if a vote by the supervisors Thursday night succeeds in changing past action.

But a law suit, a recall plan and rules technicalities when the salaries were first approved last Saturday continue to muddle the headline-making dispute that has divided the board.

The new supervisors met as a ways and means committee Thursday night and voted 14-12 to limit their salaries to a maximum of $4,000 per year.

The supervisors had voted 15-7 last Saturday to set a base salary of $12,500-a-year plus $40 a meeting, and other fringe benefits. Newspapers estimated the salaries could reach $20,000 each for the 26 supervisors.

Four supervisors who opposed the higher pay were absent from Saturday's meeting, and three supervisors switched their votes Thursday to reject the higher pay plan.

Oceanographer Decoy On Pueblo

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — The senior oceanographer aboard the USS Pueblo, a civilian, says one of his assignments was to serve as a cover for the intelligence ship.

In fact, said Dunnie R. Tuck, when the first North Korean gunboat appeared on the day of capture he began lowering water-testing bottles over the side "to show the North Koreans why we were there."

But when the Koreans began firing, the ship's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, shouted: "Friar Tuck, get that damned gear up here. I'm leaving."

Not To Interfere

Tuck, 31, of Richmond, Va., told a Navy court of inquiry Thursday that making hydrographic tests—obtaining samples of ocean water for analysis—was one of the main parts of his assignment. But, said Tuck, his orders were to handle his work "on a not-to-interfere basis" with the main surveillance mission of the ship, which Bucher has described as watching Soviet vessels and North Korean radar.

"It was one of my missions to serve as cover for the ship, to show that it was an oceanographic ship," he added.

His black and white checked sports coat, dark green tie and black pants were a sharp change from other witnesses. They all wore Navy uniform dress blues.

Tuck and the other oceanographer, Harry Iredale III, spent 11 months in a North Korean prison, along with the Navy men. Both are civil service employees of the Defense Department. Tuck said his government rating was GS12, which would give him a $12,174 a year base pay rate.

Outside Limit

The court summoned six more members of the Pueblo crew to testify today, along with a Pentagon expert in ways of how to destroy classified equipment and publications in the event of capture.

Tuck said he suggested to Bucher where he wanted the water tests made and that all were more than 13 miles from land. That would be at least one mile from the 12 miles of territorial water claimed by North Korea.

Tuck said for the samples to be accurate he needed a precise location determination from the Pueblo's navigator. He agreed with Bucher that this helped establish the Pueblo never intruded into North Korean water.

High Seas Stop Plugging Of Well

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Heavy seas kicking up waves six feet high delayed efforts to plug a leaking undersea well today as crude oil blackened more miles of California beaches.

The slick, growing by almost 1,000 gallons an hour, was an estimated 800 square miles in size and moving toward Los Angeles at three miles an hour.

"Unless the wind shifts, I don't know what can stop it,"

Halts Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel ordered an immediate halt today to all oil drilling and production operations in the Santa Barbara Channel off the California coast.

The order does not affect efforts to drill a relief well to help seal the leaking well.

said William Kerrigan, district manager of the Ventura Port.

By Thursday night, some raw petroleum was reported in Ventura's marina 24 nautical miles south of oil-clogged Santa Barbara Harbor and 50 miles north-west of Los Angeles.

Heaviest concentrations were still around the drilling platform six miles at sea where swells up to 15 feet prevented a 300-man crew from efforts to stop the sea-leak by pumping a mineral mud preparation into the hole.

The Union Oil Co. crews pumped 3,000 barrels of the gooey substances into the hole a few days ago but it didn't do the job. When the sea calmed enough, new barge loads will be poured into the fissure 325 feet below the ocean surface.

There was no indication how soon the 11-day-old leak might be plugged, a company spokesman said. Union Oil, one of several companies with federal leases to drill the offshore wells, also hoped to reach the ruptured formation by early next week with a slant well to relieve pressure.

Along the normally white sandy beaches, for more than 12 miles soaked a half-inch or more with oil, 500 men worked with log booms, straw and chemicals absorbents to hold back the oil and save the rich tourist business.

President Nixon was quoted in Washington by Rep. Charles M. Teague, R-Calif., as saying military personnel and equipment would be available if needed to help combat damage.

"I'm hopeful the President will order an end to the drilling," Teague said later Thursday.

The Los Angeles Times said

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel planned to issue such an order, pending a safety survey.

In Sacramento, Calif., Gov. Ronald Reagan said he wants U.S. offshore drilling regulations stiffened to match more stringent California regulations governing wells inside the three-mile limit.

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel planned to issue such an order, pending a safety survey.

In Sacramento, Calif., Gov. Ronald Reagan said he wants U.S. offshore drilling regulations stiffened to match more stringent California regulations governing wells inside the three-mile limit.

Conservationists said birds by the thousands had been affected by the oil and that many seeking fish had plunged to their deaths through the inch-thick oil.

The latest official count of oil-soaked seabirds found on shore was 151 dead or dying out of 427 treated at several centers.

Tanker Spillage

LONDON (AP)—The supertanker Torrey Canyon spilled a cargo of some 35 million gallons of crude oil into the seas off Southwest England and Wales when she broke up nearly two years ago on the Seven Stones Rocks.

The runaway undersea well off Southern California has been spewing forth 21,000 gallons of oil a day for 12 days now. At that rate, it will take it 1,654 days—or more than four and a half years—to equal the Torrey Canyon's contribution to pollution.

League To Discuss Practical Politics

Practical politics will be the topic of discussion of the Escanaba League of Women Voters at its membership meeting next week.

Printing Trades Credit Union Elects J. Decker

In annual reorganization meeting this week the Board of Directors of the Delta County Printing Trades Credit Union elected John Decker president. Officers to serve with him will be Donald Koish, vice president; Alvin (Pete) Kornitz, treasurer; and Victor Powers, secretary.

At the annual membership meeting Saturday, Edward Q. McCarthy was elected to the board of directors, Ethel Blahnik to the supervisory committee and Roy Goldberg to the credit committee.

The credit union has 103 members, assets of $58,668 and shares total $53,103. In 1968, 61 loans were made for a total of $29,154. A five per cent dividend was paid in 1968.

In informal discussions the newly elected chairmen and vice-chairmen of the two parties will describe party organization and plans for the coming year, what parties do between elections, and how the individual citizen can best serve the party of his choice. League effectiveness in the community will also be discussed.

As part of its program the League sends observers to regularly scheduled meetings of the city council, school board, community college board, county board of supervisors, and others. Members of the local League who have participated in the observer program will describe the role of the observer.

The function of a League observer is to keep the League informed as to what local government is doing, and to signify to governmental leaders the League's continuing interest in good government. Mrs. Charles Harper is in charge of the observer program.

The meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Luther Barrett, 101 S. 2nd St. on Monday, Feb. 10 at 8 p. m. Members are invited to bring friends.

Swear In 52 Police Reserves

EAST LANSING (AP)—Fifty-two candidates for the Michigan special police reserve are to be sworn in and oriented to the new program later this month at State Police headquarters in East Lansing. Candidates are to undergo physical examination and be instructed in department history, rules and regulations. The reserve force, authorized last year by the Legislature, is funded with $50,000 of state money.

7 Stand Trial For Conspiracy

DETROIT (AP) — Seven persons have been ordered to stand trial on charges of running an "anti-establishment conspiracy" that allegedly involved exploding bombs at Detroit police precincts, draft boards and a Central Intelligence Agency recruiting office in Ann Arbor.

Climaxing an 11-day preliminary hearing, Recorder's Court Judge Thomas L. Poindexter bound the seven over for trial Thursday.

"I'm convinced that each of the seven directly participated in the conspiracy in one form or another," Poindexter said. "It's evident from the testimony that some or all of the defendants had intended to bomb government property."

The judge said that 24-year-old David Valler, one of the defendants, was at the center of the conspiracy.

The chief defense witness, Donald Tunstall, 16, of Detroit, testified previously that Valler placed a homemade dynamite bomb in the parking lot of the 13th Detroit police precinct Aug. 29. It exploded, damaging a car, but no one was injured.

Dunstall also testified he had heard the defendants talk of bombing the federal building and the Cadillac Square Building, housing most of Detroit's draft boards, and police headquarters. He said they were frightened off each time by guards or police.

Maniaci Rakes Custer Program

GRAND RAPIDS — Dr. George D. Maniaci, Gladstone, president of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children, said here Thursday evening that failure to end use of Fort Custer as a facility for the care of 1300 Michigan mentally retarded could end in disaster.

The army barracks near Battle Creek have been leased by the State of Michigan from the federal government since 1956 for emergency housing of the retarded. Specially designated retarded from throughout Michigan are housed at Fort Custer.

Speaking to an annual meeting of the Kent County Association for Retarded Children, Dr. Maniaci called use of Fort Custer "impractical, impossible and inhumane." He stated he had written Washington concerning what he termed "misuse of federal facilities" which, he said, cannot be permitted to continue without serious consequences.

"If we do not choose to end the use of Fort Custer as a residential care facility for the retarded, we will be forced to get rid of it by some disastrous crisis," Maniaci declared.

The MARC president also called for immediate and total review by state government of Michigan's care, training and treatment of the mentally retarded.

Syrian Paper For Hanging Of Bail

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — A Syrian newspaper said today an American engineer arrested by Iraq on suspicion of being a spy should have been hanged instead of being set free.

The Al Baath newspaper assailed the regime of President Ahmed Hassan el Bakr for releasing Paul Bail Wednesday "in spite of enough evidence to send him to the gallows."

Bail, an oil production engineer from Conneautville, Pa., was on loan from the Humble Oil Co. of Houston to Iraq Petroleum Co., a consortium of Western companies.

Saw Shaw With Oswald Says Garrison Witness

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A one-time civil rights worker told the jury at Clay L. Shaw's conspiracy trial he saw Shaw, Lee Harvey Oswald and David W. Ferrie together.

The testimony by Corrie C. Collins of Baton Rouge was the highlight of opening testimony Thursday as the prosecution hammered at a major defense position.

Shaw is accused of conspiring with Oswald, Ferrie and others to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Over defense objections, Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock made no attempt to first lay the foundation for the charge. Instead, he opened the case by summoning five surprise witnesses.

Saw Three Together

Collins, the fifth to testify, insisted he saw Shaw, Oswald and Ferrie in Clinton, La., in "late August, or early September" of 1963.

Shortly before, in his opening statement, chief defense lawyer F. Irvin Dymond had told the criminal district court jury that:

"It is our intention to prove to you that not only did Clay Shaw not engage in conspiracy, but that he never knew nor laid eyes on either Oswald or Ferrie."

Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, was named Kennedy's killer by the Warren Commission. The report said he operated alone, with no credible evidence of a conspiracy.

In opening, Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison told the jury the state would show the President "was struck by a number of bullets coming from different guns at different locations—thus showing that more than one person was shooting at the President."

The 6-foot-6 district attorney thus served notice that the Warren Report would be, in effect, a codefendant. Dymond reacted sharply.

Report Not Question

"We are not here to defend the findings of the Warren Report," he told the jury. "I implore you, do not let the drama and pageantry of what happened in Dealey Plaza in Dallas obscure the real issues in this case."

Collins is a plump, postal worker with a mustache. In 1963, he was head of the Clinton chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, which was pushing a voter registration drive.

One day, he said, a big black car pulled up and parked near him as he was standing outside the door to the voter registrar's office.

Collins said a man he later recognized as Oswald stepped from the back seat.

He next pointed out Shaw, sitting at the defense table flanked by four lawyers, as the man he saw behind the steering wheel. He identified a photograph of Ferrie as the man who was sitting next to Shaw.

Asked when he concluded that the man he had seen was Oswald, he replied that he recognized him from a picture after the assassination.

Cuban Exiles Flood Citizenship Classes

MIAMI (AP) — So many Cuban exiles are becoming U.S. citizens that courtrooms here are no longer big enough to hold them. The swearing-in ceremonies are held monthly in public halls.

A waiting list of more than 1,000 is reported.

"If it weren't for the Cubans we wouldn't have many new citizens," commented U.S. Dist. Judge Clyde C. Atkins, in charge of the court committee for naturalization.

More than 80 per cent in each citizenship class are Cubans.

Before the Cuban influx, the ceremonies were held only four times a year.

More than 750 new citizens were sworn at a hearing in the Dade County auditorium in December, Atkins reported. More than 350 went in Jan. 22 at a ceremony in Bayfront Park. The largest federal courtroom accommodates 250 persons.

The size of the citizenship classes, Atkins explained, depends on the number processed by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

While official figures on the number of exiles taking citizenship are unavailable, Fernando Penabaz, Florida chairman of the nationalities division of the Republican party, reported about 20,000 have registered as voters in the state in the last four years.

Cuban-born lawyer Carlos Fernandez, who watches the citizenship picture closely, estimated that nearly 20,000 Cubans have become U.S. citizens in the Miami area alone since Fidel Castro's 1959 emergence to power.

Projected nationwide, Fernandez said, a proportionate citizenship movement is occurring. An estimated half-million Cuban exiles live in the United States, more than half of them outside the Miami area.

Rosary Society Meeting Held

BARK RIVER — Mrs. Ray Teal presided at the meeting of St. George Rosary Society held in the parish hall Monday night.

The card party scheduled for Feb. 15 has been canceled because the high school religion class is sponsoring a Mardi Gras Dance that evening in the community hall.

The parish hall kitchen has been painted and cleaned and Mrs. William LaVigne volunteered to make curtains for the windows.

Thirty cartons of clothing, weighing 600 pounds, were shipped to the Milwaukee collection center and four cartons, weighing 200 pounds, were shipped directly to the Rev. Jude Klocner in Williamsburg, Ky.

Mrs. Ray Teal showed slides of her recent trip to Germany, Sweden and Norway and displayed jewelry purchased in those countries.

Lunch was served by St. Theresa Circle members with Mrs. Francis Perron, chairman. The Holy Family Circle will function during the month of March with Mrs. Clifford Van-Enkevort, chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Boyle attended the Upper Peninsula American Legion Mid-Winter Conference held in Negaunee last weekend.

Assessors To Meet Tuesday

Assessments on personal property and commercial property will be the major emphasis this year for the 16th annual Upper Peninsula Conference for Assessing Officers in Escanaba on Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 11-12.

Topics to be discussed will be new legislation on assessing, including veterans' exemptions, senior citizens' exemptions, the mineral rights act and assessment of conservation lands, equalization under the new county boards and the evaluation of pipelines.

At the conference dinner at the House of Ludington, Dr. Robin Barlow, associate professor of economics at the University of Michigan, will speak on "A New Tax Program for Michigan."

The conference will open with registration and the first session at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center. Subsequent sessions will be held in the State Office Building, the Delta County Building, Chamber of Commerce Building and the House of Ludington. Speakers and consultants at the conference will be members and staff of the State Tax Commission and experienced assessors from the Upper Peninsula. Further information concerning the conference may be obtained by writing or calling the University of Michigan Extension Service, Box 394, Escanaba, Michigan 49829, telephone 786-6861.

Gogebic Big Think

Some of our city slicker cousins say that the fiberglass Hiawatha who frowns down on the chimneys of Ironwood is Indian corn, but we'd expect the newest promotional effort on the Gogebic Range to strike sparks in the tinder of appreciation generally.

Bill Johnson, president of the Upper Michigan-Wisconsin Broadcasting Co., which operates Radio Station WJMS at Ironwood, stopped by for a midwinter visit and of course we asked him how things are perking in his region. Ironwood has a cheering section in every community in the U. P. because of its valiant and successful efforts to build its economy after the collapse of iron mining on the Gogebic Range.

Mining built Ironwood, Bessemer and Wakefield and its collapse left the area dependent upon its secondary industries. They have rallied and the area has concentrated on the development of recreation business, most of it so far based on winter sports because nature has been so bountiful there with its snowfall on the Gogebic Range slopes just south of mighty Lake Superior.

Johnson, as a communications tycoon and civic you-all, has never been mildewed with timidity. He took on Soapy Williams in a Democratic dragout for the governorship because he thought the party ought to have a better nominee. He's been active in Gogebic's major ski resort projects, at Indianhead Mountain first and currently at Powderhorn and he's blowing the bugles now for Copper Peak Ski Flying Hill.

This is a project of the Gogebic Range Ski Corp. and it has been on all the burners of the government aid stove. In case you're not the type who exchanges his oxfords in the winter for ski boots, a ski flying hill is a jumping hill for breaknecks, in contrast to the ski slopes so familiar in most winter gypsy parks, with downhill runs, but no flights into space.

The two types of ski facilities differ greatly, the flying hill appealing to the pros and the spectators, and the slopes appealing to the do-it-yourself crowd. A good ski center should have both types of facilities. Iron Mountain does, and so do Marquette-Ishpeming, and the Ironwood area has had a flying hill, but nothing spectacular to match its new slope developments. Now it's supplying the deficiency with Copper Peak.

Ironwood has used Wolverine Hill, developed in 1938, for its flying, and the late Torger Tøkle set the hill record of 222 feet there. Copper Peak is 1,554 feet above sea level and its scaffold will stand 245 feet above the hill, taller than Iron Mountain's famed installation at Pine Mountain.

It will, says Johnson, permit jumps of 540 feet in "relative safety." We presume that this means with a reasonable chance of survival. Pine Mountain's record is 337 feet. The U. S. jump record is 338 feet made by Norway's Bjørn Wirkola, at Westby, Wis., three weeks after Adrian Watt of Duluth set the 337 foot national mark at Pine Mountain last year.

Ironwood area investors raised $55,000 to help finance Copper Peak and must raise $50,000 more, says Johnson. An Area Redevelopment Administration grant of $150,000 in 1962 and an ARA loan of $250,000 provided $400,000 which has been kept intact and the Economic Development Administration has said it'll put up $266,000 if the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission puts up $366,000. In all, the package adds up to $1,032,000 and the project is now going ahead, with notices for bidding to go out this week and with start of construction planned for April.

The hill will be completed and ready for use in early January, 1970 and Sam Davey, a motel operator, who's president of Gogebic Range Ski Corp., Earl Minkin, a plumbing contractor who's vice president, Johnson and the other associates, deserve a hurrah for achieving another major development in Upper Peninsula recreational business. Uncle Sam should be mentioned, too, because he seems to be the real uncle in the project on the financial side.

The site embraces more than 700 acres, most of it owned by the corporation that will develop it and the rest leased. There's an area for development of ski slopes, but that'll come later.

Fine Public Career

Bob Furlong is retiring from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and there'll be a chorus of "Well Done, Bob!" from the Upper Peninsula.

A native of Sault Ste. Marie where he was born in 1908, Furlong began state employment as a forest fire warden at Trout Lake in the U. P. in 1929 and went on to a distinguished career in conservation and outdoor recreation.

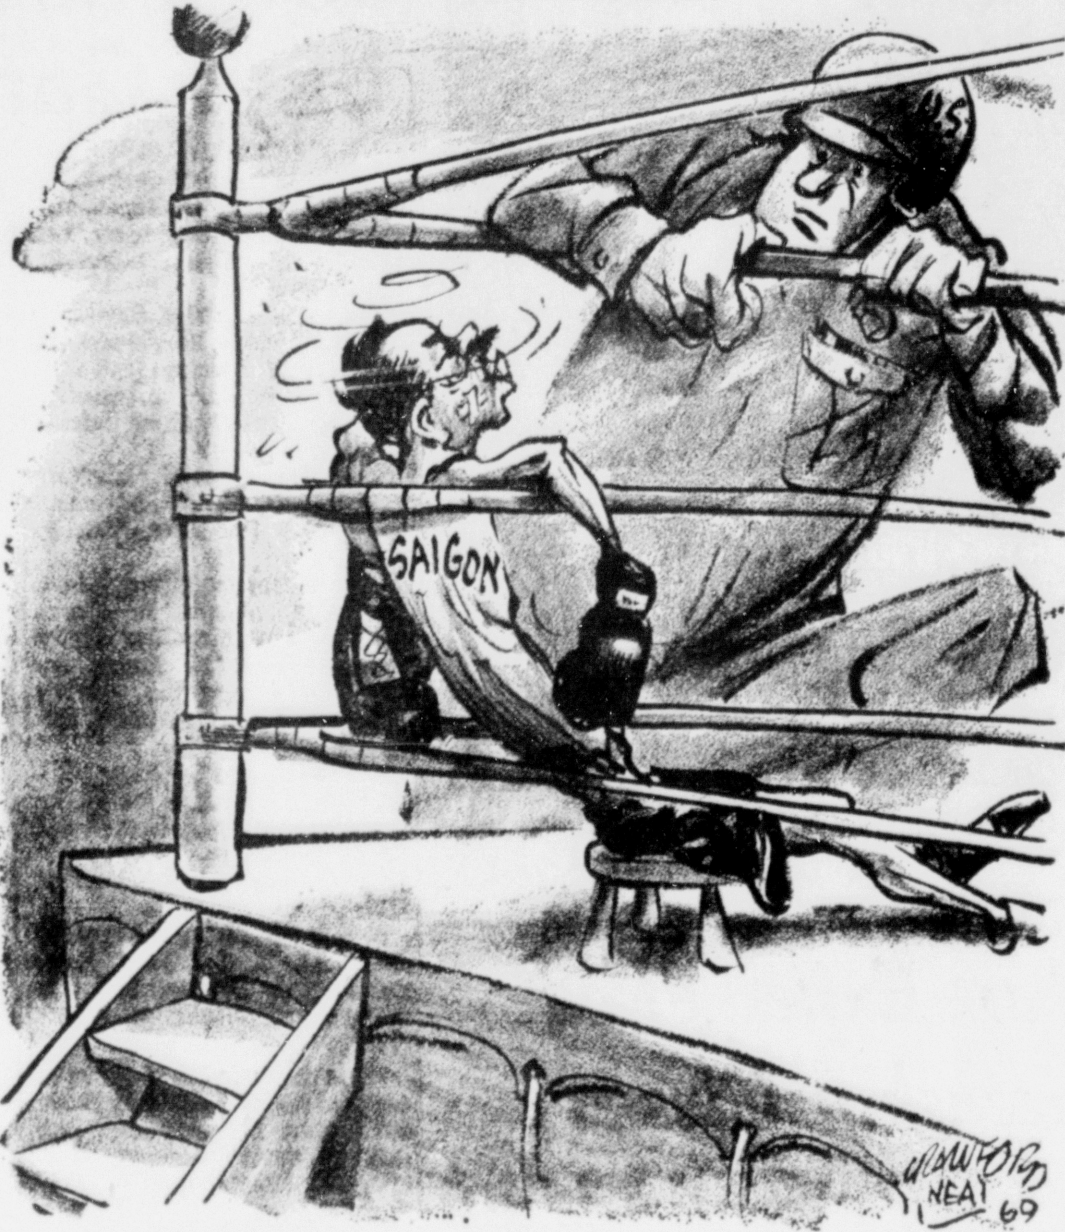

He worked up through the ranks of the Conservation Department as assistant district supervisor for field administration at Escanaba and district supervisor at Boyne City and Gladwin and he was appointed assistant regional supervisor for the northern Lower Peninsula.

He left the Department in 1947 to become director of the Michigan Tourist Council, which he headed for the next 15 years, a period of great growth for this important state agency which puts Michigan's best foot forward in outdoor recreation. Furlong organized the state's tourist promotion and national advertising program.

In 1963 Furlong was named secretary of the State Conservation Commission and the post was later expanded to include the duties of executive assistant. For the last six years he has worked to improve liaison between the commission and department and the Legislature and the state's increasingly effective conservation program owes significant growth to this effort.

Furlong has an invaluable grass roots knowledge of Michigan's natural resources and the threats to them and of the people who hold their fate. He has helped both the effort to develop tourism in the Upper Peninsula and the effort to get maximum usage from our resources consistent with good conservation practice. And he tells stories well besides! He's been a fine fellow to have around for so many years.

Kill Arthritis Myths

NEW YEAR — (NEA) — "Arthritis," says Gaynor Maddox, author of 'Foods and Arthritis,' "is almost as much a disease of the mind as it is of the body. People think certain foods cause it while others cure it. Nothing could be further from the truth."

But convincing people that there's no hope in grasping at the straws of quackery with an arthritic hand isn't always easy and Maddox knows that, too.

In his role as food and nutrition editor for Newspaper Enterprise Assn., Maddox has worked closely with the nation's leading medical men and has been a regular contributor to Today's Health, a journal published by the American Medical Association. He's the author of several books on nutrition and edited the "Cookbook for Diabetics."

"Of the more than 16 million Americans who have arthritis," says Maddox, "I'd estimate that all but about 10,000 think that a specific food or group of foods cause arthritis and that some special kind of tea or honey or some other exotic food will make arthritis go away. These people need a re-education, at least where diet is concerned. That's what the book is all about."

Maddox first became interested in the complex problems of food and arthritis four years ago when he was approached by the Arthritis Foundation to write a handbook on the subject.

"The more I investigated," the author recalls, "the more I realized that so many of the things that one hears about the ailment are nothing more than myths and old wives' tales. Right then and there I decided to consult with the leading physicians, biochemists, nutritionists, dietitians and other experts and write a book on the subject."

Among those experts questioned by Maddox were Dr. Howard Rusk, director of the institute of rehabilitation medicine at NYU medical center; Dr. William Clark, president of the Arthritis Foundation, and Dr. Charles Glen King, the noted biochemist to whom the book is dedicated.

"I think of myself as an interpreter," says Maddox, "and nothing more. I never think I know anything. I have to have everything explained by the best people in the field, then I pass the information along in a conversational style to readers."

What Maddox has tried to pass along is "a unique and thoroughly practical guide to the important part diet, food and food preparation can play in the everyday lives of millions of men and women handicapped by arthritis."

"Food and Arthritis" (Taplinger, $6.50) offers advice on the basic nutritional problems and requirements of men, women and children.

Maddox estimates that at least a quarter of a million children are affected) suffering from either rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis or gout. The book also has photographs and working drawings on how to plan or rearrange kitchens for both ambulatory and wheel chair arthritis patients to enable them to carry on daily in their roles as homemakers and offers a summary of the part food plays in the daily lives of arthritis patients.

Maddox also includes more than 150 complete menus and 125 recipes for nutritionally balanced meals.

"The three things that a victim of arthritis needs the most," says the author, "are patience, exercise and good nutrition. You have to keep your body in tone as much as you can in order to fight back. My aim is not only to teach how to live with arthritis, but how to live a little better at the same time."

Certain bridge players possess plenty of technical ability. The essence of top flight competition is the pressure that each side puts on the other. West's two-spade opening was one of those weak two bids designed to crowd the opposition's bidding. North made a take-out double and East continued the jamming process by jumping to four spades.

West could have been severely punished for East's bid if South had chosen to double. Furthermore a double is clearly indicated with the South cards. He has 4-3-3-3 distribution and eight points. Looking at things another way he has one sure defensive trick and not much more in the way of declarer's tricks. Furthermore a double does not have to be left in. If North had doubled with no spades at all he could either bid four no-trump to ask South to name a suit, or five of some suit of his own. In the first case South could bid five clubs, in the second South would have good support for whatever suit his partner selected.

Unfortunately, South was one of those experts who fancy their great ability at dummy play. He decided he was appointed to play this hand and bid five clubs. West forgot to double and South played it well, but still had to go down two tricks.

Now let's see what might happen to four spades doubled. North would probably start by leading ace and another spade. West would win in his hand and lead his singleton diamond. If North hopped with his ace and led a heart West would be held to one diamond, one club and our trumps for down 700. If North ducked and West rose with the diamond king he would make one more trick and still be down three.

In either case, a mighty severe penalty when the best North and South could do on their own would be to make a part score contract.

A—Pass. Your partner has placed the contract where he wants it. In match point play you might try six no-trump in an effort to secure a top but you would be mighty sorry if it turned out that a diamond lead will beat your no-trump slam.

Ann Landers

Age Has Made Her Husband Handsome

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married 25 years. As a young man he was nice looking, but nothing spectacular. During middle age, however, he has filled out, his hair has turned grey around the temples, and the dirty dog is now a very handsome man. Also, he has developed a charming manner which is immensely appealing to the ladies.

The problem is that the women will simply not leave him alone. From 15 to 60, beautiful and homely, drunk and sober, they fall for him like crazy. I used to laugh it off but it's not funny any more. The women in our social circle, both mothers and daughters, are becoming so aggressive that I am concerned. Furthermore, there are so many beautiful divorcees running loose these days that I need some advice on how to hang on to what's legally and rightfully mine. Any suggestions? — L. L. L.

Dear L. L. L.: If you've been married 25 years, your husband must be at least 45. He is, in my opinion, old enough to protect himself against aggressive women, from 15 to 60, beautiful and homely, drunk or sober — if he wants to, that is. And if he doesn't want to — you can't protect him, Honey.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll make this real easy for you because I know you have a zillion letters to read. Just put a check in one of these spaces. Yes — or No —

My cleaning lady has worked for me four years. She's the world's dumbest clerk but I don't have the heart to fire her. Besides, the next one might be dumber.

Last week she asked me how to remove a wine spot from my best tablecloth. I jokingly said, "You'll probably have to use a scissors." She took the scissors and cut out the spot.

Should I make her pay for the cloth? It would be two days' salary. Yes or No? — STILL BOILING

Dear Still: No. If after four years you haven't learned that this woman takes everything you say literally, then you are dumber than she is.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's hobby is photography. Jack is a wonderful photographer and has won several prizes. He has taken many pictures of me — some with clothes on, others with clothes off.

Jack plans to enter a nude of me in an important exhibit this spring. There will be several cash prizes. The photograph he has in mind is really a semi-nude. I am partly concealed by a bath towel. Jack insists that because my face is turned from the camera and the lighting is heavily shaded no one could recognize me as the model. I say a stranger wouldn't recognize me but my friends and family might.

I'm very upset about this, Ann. He says I am being foolish. Am I? — UNSHIRTED HELL

Dear Un: Put on a leotard or a bathing suit and tell Jack to take some more pictures.

House Balks At Taking Mansion

LANSING (AP) — The House of Representatives balked Thursday at giving final approval to acceptance of the gift of a $440,000 Lansing home to be used as an official governor's residence.

Spurred by majority Democrats, the House authorized members of the House and Senate appropriations committees to continue negotiations on the proposal, but directed the committees to report back to the Legislature before taking final action.

The Senate had voted Tuesday to empower the committees to accept the spacious home, which was offered by the state last year by wealthy trucking executive Howard W. Sober.

Like the Senate, the House also voted to set up a committee chaired by Michigan's five living former governors to solicit private contributions totaling an estimated $250,000 to furnish the home.

But the House named the two full appropriations committees as the bodies which would receive the money. The Senate version of the plan had designated the eight-member senate Capitol Outlay subcommittee.

"Now you're saying you don't trust these eight people," said Rep. James Farnsworth, R - Plainwell.

"That's right," shouted several Democrats.

The amendments were written during an unscheduled two-hour Democratic caucus called when several Democrats objected to speedy action on the two Senate-passed resolutions.

Brewers Reeling Over Beer Tax

DETROIT (AP) — Beer consumption in the state totaling 5,994,000 barrels may have put the customers in a good mood, and the Michigan Brewers' Association, which recorded the figures, is just reeling. But not with joy.

Robert A. Schiffer, brewers president, contends that $108 million paid in 1968 in federal, state and local taxes is a national record.

Most ravenous, he says, is the federal government, which extracts $9 on each barrel. Next in line for what he calls a "slice of the pie" is the state, which collected $6.30 in excise taxes. A further $16.3 million is paid in sales tax, he says.

Schiffer contends the taxes account for 60 per cent of the cost of the beer to the consumer.

Figures showing that lower and middle income families account for more than 70 per cent of the beer consumed were cited by Schiffer, from which he contends the burden of payment is placed on those who can least afford it.

Haagensen's Humor Clicks

The Escanaba Area Chamber of Commerce squeezed as many of its members and friends and their wives as it could—over 260—into the Dells Supper Club Thursday evening for a program of fun and instruction from Kenneth W. Haagensen, the executive vice president of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, Madison.

Mayor Cecil Chase and the councilmen and their wives were honorees at the dinner.

Haagensen talked about the difficulty in communicating and how important it is to modern society. Many persons, he said, don't really listen, but use the time others are talking to think of what they'll say in rebuttal.

Communications Problem

"Rumor is the handmaiden of faulty communication," said Haagensen, "and I don't think that even embezzlements cause America as much loss as faulty communications. It is not how many words we know that matters, but how well we use them. How can you disagree with me if you don't understand me?"

"We tend to think that words are what they mean to us in the context of our own vocabulary when we should try to see the problem the way the speaker sees it. The best listeners in the world are telephone operators and newspaper reporters. They have to do their jobs."

"The best listeners are not businessmen nor students. Preschool children are fine listeners. They say 'Read it to me' when they know it by heart. As their reading and writing curve goes up their listening curve goes down. Listen to people; understanding is the basis on which our problems are solved."

Which Son?

The large audience was delighted by Haagensen's humor. One of the Midwest's best known public relations workers, he is a famed story teller. One of his stories was about the fruit wagon owner who was suing the insurance company for injuries in a collision and who was being asked in court why, if his horse and wagon could be used a few days after the accident, he didn't have one of his two sons take over the business temporarily. "Which one," the peddler asked the lawyer "the nuclear physicist or the psychiatrist?"

Donald Breault, vice president of the Chamber, welcomed the diners, the Rev. Karl J. Hammar asked the blessings and Jean Worth was toastmaster.

A cocktail party preceded the dinner, with Clairmont Transfer Co., Escanaba Paper Co., Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Upper Peninsula Power Co.

Hickel Invited To Blaney Meet

By KENNETH LOWE

TRAVERSE CITY — Walter Hickel, the controversial new secretary of the interior, will be invited to address the 25th anniversary meeting of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association in Blaney Park next June.

Don Gillies, Detroit, told the MOWA at its midwinter meeting here this week that plans are being made for Hickel to appear before the biggest meeting in the organization's history.

The association was organized in Blaney Park by a handful of Michigan outdoor writers a quarter of a century ago this year. Gillies, who formerly was outdoor editor of the defunct Detroit Times, was elected first president of the association. He is now chairman for the silver anniversary meeting of MOWA.

The 1969 annual meeting will extend from June 5 through June 8. Highlights of the meeting will include field trips to the Cusino Wildlife Research Station at Shingleton and the Seney National Wildlife Refuge, fishing in lakes and streams in the Blaney Park area, addresses by prominent figures in the fields of conservation and legislation.

In addition to Hickel, it is expected that Michigan Gov. William Milliken will attend. Invitations also have been extended to Govs. Rhodes of Ohio and Knowles of Wisconsin, Gillies said.

A bronze historical plaque commemorating the founding of the MOWA will be erected at Blaney Park and dedicated during the four-day meeting.

The association numbers more than 125 members, most of whom are engaged in newspaper, radio or television coverage of hunting, fishing, conservation and other outdoor activities.

Robert S. Marshall, West Branch, publisher of the Ogemaw County Herald, is president.

Sturgeon River Purchase Hearing

Proposed land acquisitions in the vicinity of the East Branch of the Sturgeon River in Dickinson County are scheduled to be acted on by the Michigan Natural Resources Commission next week.

Commissioners are expected to decide on two purchase offers and one exchange proposal during their February meeting in Lansing Thursday and Friday.

Marion Murray of downstate Allen Park is offering the state 40 acres for $8,000 and Carl H. Kulow of downstate Coldwater is offering 12 acres for $1,500.

Both tracts lie within or adjoining the flood basin of the proposed Public Law 566 flood control project on the East Branch. Ownership by the state is required for completion of the several flood control and fish and game management objectives of the project.

Murray's tract includes frontage on the East Branch and all of a small lake. Kulow's tract is located at the extreme eastern end of the impoundment area near Norway Lake.

The exchange proposal calls for trading of 303 acres in the impoundment area owned by the Keweenaw Land Assn. of Ironwood for 384 acres of state-owned land in the Ford River State Forest in Dickinson County and a small lot along the Paint River in Iron County.

The state negotiated the exchange with the Keweenaw Land Assn. to allow public acquisition of lands desired to provide public access to the proposed impoundment on the East Branch. When completed, this public impoundment will create an area involving water frontage suitable for development as a camping and recreational site to be known as Gene's Lake Hunting Project.

Biafran Market Bombed, Strafed; 200-300 Killed

UMUOHIAGU, Biafra (AP) — A crowded open market in this Biafran village was bombed and strafed Thursday, causing what may be one of the worst civilian casualty tolls of the Nigerian civil war.

Local officials estimated that between 200 and 300 persons were killed outright and hundreds more wounded.

Five hours after the noon raid, sturdy youths followed by wailing relatives were still carrying the dead along dusty trails in the bush to their homes.

The Biafran Information Department said it was the second worst bombing incident of the war, the worst being the bombing of a market in Otuocho last year in which an estimated 500 persons died.

Financial Picture That Faces Home Buyers

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Inflation and high interest rates are presenting potential homeowners today with problems more suited to financial experts. But they, rather than the experts, must provide the answers.

Should you, for example, obtain a mortgage now at 7.5 per cent interest or wait until money prices come back down to 6 per cent or so, which is the rate your friend received a few years ago?

The question has no easy answer. The fellow with a $25,000 mortgage at 6 per cent a year for 20 years pays principal and interest of $179.11 a month. You, if you took the 7.5 per cent mortgage, would pay $201.40, or $22.29 more.

This may seem rather unimportant to you, especially when the landlord of your apartment house might boost your rent by that amount in the next lease. But consider the costs over longer periods of time.

Total Cost
The man with the 6 per cent mortgage pays $2,129.32 a year or $42,586.40 over the 20-year life of his loan. You pay $2,416.80 a year, or $48,336 for 20 years, a total of $5,749.60 more.

Now that's nothing to overlook even for a banker. Do you wait, then, until a more suitable rate can be obtained? Perhaps, but in doing so you risk an indefinite delay in purchasing. Nobody knows when rates will fall. They may, in fact, rise even higher during the next few months.

Evidence of how high are present rates is provided by the experience some months ago of Financial Publishing Co., which distributes to banks and savings and loan associations a tabular book called "Improved Payment Table for Monthly Mortgage Loans."

This little book listed almost every monthly payment for just about any conceivable mortgage—but it's interest rates went only to 7 per cent. It had to rush a new book into print, eliminating lower rates, adding higher ones.

Equity Interest
Financial Publishing is prepared to go even higher, and has in fact published a similar book of tables that goes to 10 per cent. Within recent days the ceiling on government-backed loans was lifted to 7.5 per cent, and some people already have paid more than that.

The book, incidentally, is available for $1 from the publisher at 82 Brookline Ave., Boston, Mass. 02215.

If, then, you decide to postpone buying you deny yourself the pleasure of a new home, especially one that might not again be matched in value, and a buildup—although admittedly slow—of an equity interest.

Even more important, from a financial viewpoint, are these factors: Your rent may very well be increased in the next year or so, and the price of that house you postponed buying almost certainly will rise.

Dr. Dale Heads Newberry Hospital

LANSING (AP)—Dr. Edward C. Dale has been named acting superintendent of Newberry State Hospital, the State Department of Mental Health announced. Dale's appointment is preliminary to the planned March retirement of Dr. William H. Purmont, who will leave after nearly 35 years as staff psychiatrist, outpatient clinic director, assistant superintendent and, since late 1965, superintendent at Newberry.

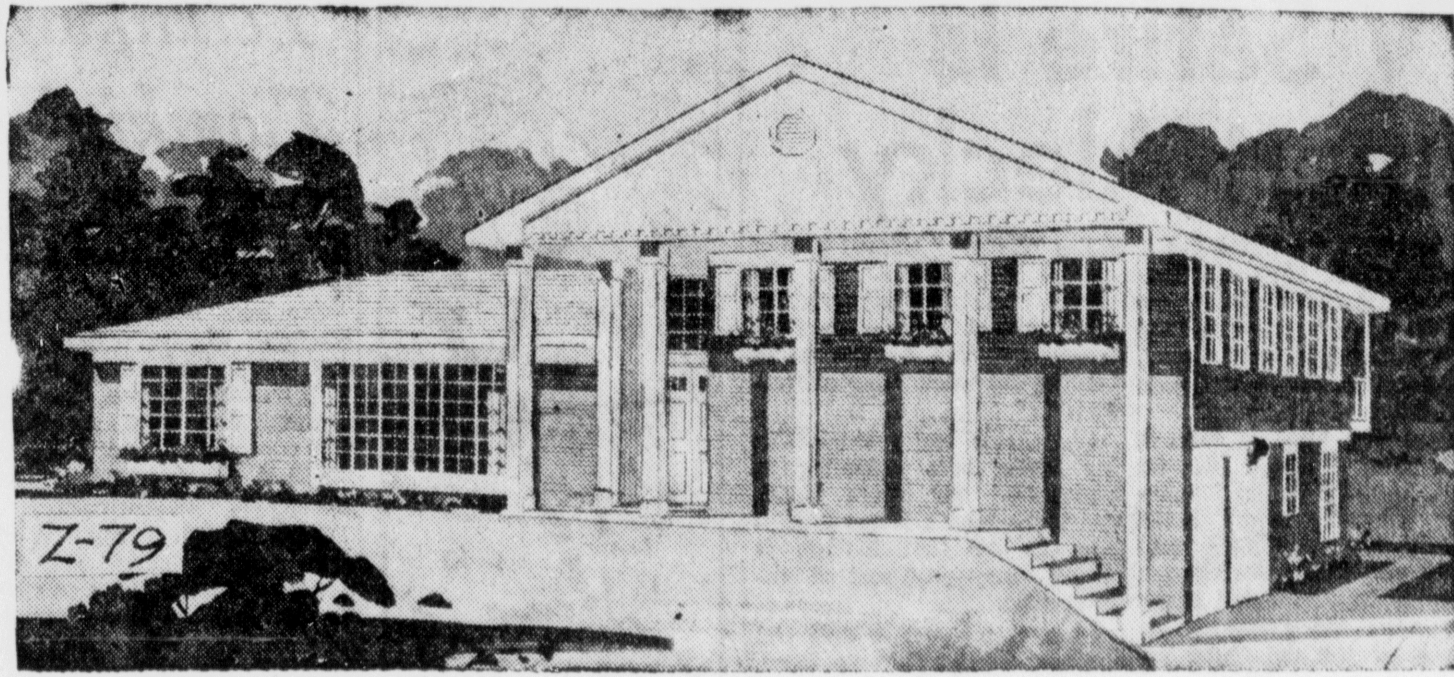

SENATOR ADAMS

In 1803, John Quincy Adams was elected to the U. S. Senate as a member of the Federalist party. However, he broke with his party and, in 1808, the Federalists elected another person to his place in the Senate, several months before the election was scheduled. Adams did not wait for the end of his term but resigned immediately.

SPLIT LEVEL architecture is a comparatively recent creation, but this one takes on a Colonial air with its tall columned portico reminiscent of old Southern homes. Inside, however, the emphasis is on the latest in modern materials and design.

An Attractive Split Level

By ANDY LANG

This distinctive and attractive split level has been carefully designed to achieve an excellent balance.

As in most split levels, it offers ranch-like living convenience, two-story bedroom privacy and two entertainment areas well separated yet near enough for joint use if the need arises. But this home goes further than that. It also incorporates an impressive formal facade not normally found in split level homes but much more in keeping with the lavish interior layout. The tall columned portico and brick facade, with touches of wood, have a definite exterior appeal.

The reception foyer presents a most gracious space for arrival. Closets are located off a secondary hall adjacent to the foyer. Through the double-door entry, there's a dramatic upward vista of 13' plus. Directly ahead, an elegant circular staircase takes you up to the bedroom level or down to the informal entertainment center. To the left of the center hall foyer is the formal living room with a front-facing large case-bay window. Beyond the living room is a dining room. Together, the two rooms create a formal expanse of over 33'. Also located off the main foyer is an alcove that leads directly to the kitchen and breakfast room. Twin guest closets are located on one side of the alcove. On the other side is a rear door entry-mud-room area, featuring a step-saving laundry and an adjacent powder room conveniently serving everyday and formal areas of the main floor.

Z-79 STATISTICS

Design Z-79 is a split level with a Colonial flavor on the outside. The upper levels have 2207 square feet of habitable area, divided among a living room, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, laundry, four bedrooms, 2½ baths and a large foyer. The downstairs family room has 618 square feet of space. Over-all dimensions, including a two-car garage, are 65' 8" by 52' 2".

The kitchen's efficient U-shape is backed up by a rear wall featuring a pantry closet and a sit-down planning desk area. The breakfast room, with its lovely bay window, is a charming and comfortable adjunct to the kitchen.

Upstairs, architect Samuel Paul has placed four bedrooms, plenty of closet space and two full baths on the bedroom floor. The master suite features a large bedroom, a spacious walk-through wardrobe section and a private bath that includes both a tub and a separate stall shower. Furthermore, there is a rear door to a private balcony, provision for an optional fireplace and an optional archway for direct access from the master bedroom to the nearest child's bedroom, making it an ideal nursery, sitting room or den.

FLOOR PLANS: Spaciousness is the keynote of this floor layout. The living room and the dining room, in line at the front of the house, stretch more than 33'. The kitchen and breakfast room are 22'. And the downstairs family room is more than 28' long.

But perhaps the biggest bonus of all is the ground-floor family room nearly 29' long, with a raised hearth, a continuous brick wall 4' high with paneling above, and sliding glass doors to a rear patio. All in all, a magnificent informal entertaining area. There is a side entry to the two-car garage and a full basement.

With 2207 square feet of living space on the main foyer and 618 square feet of family room, this is a house that permits a sizable family to live well. It's not the most inexpensive split level you can build, but it represents good value.

More people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

IMPRESSIVE circular staircase, just off the large center hall reception foyer, leads to four bedrooms on the upper level and to a huge, fireplaced family room downstairs.

TV Satire Is Smart-Alecky

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Webster's New World Dictionary defines the word "satire" as "the use of ridicule, sarcasm, irony, etc., to expose, attack, or deride vices, follies, etc."

The viewer who sat through ABC's new "What's It All About, World?" during its premiere Thursday night might conclude the producers and writers who called their comedy-variety hour "satire" either never read the definition or don't know the difference between the smart-alecky and ironic.

The show opened with a silhouette with a Texas accent complaining to "Ladybird" that he missed the White House, at which point another silhouette called "Hubert," chimed in that he did too. Dean Jones, the show's host, then appeared to ask who would have thought six months ago that Havana would become the world's busiest airport.

One sketch had a tough-talking Mafia boss preparing to "integrate" the Black Hand, and picking on a Negro handyman as the first initiate. It wasn't funny—just sort of embarrassing.

In another sketch, a little girl imitated Shirley Temple dancing and singing "It's Only a Paper Moon," dedicated to the astronauts. There was a tedious spoof of a TV interview show.

For shock, there was a sketch about a tap-dancing nun purportedly starring in a movie called "The Swinging Sister." She talked in a combination of pious language and show biz jargon.

Guest star Barbara Bain earnestly recited Pete Seeger's anti-war poem, "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" illustrated by newsreel shots of Hitler, the Japanese surrender and men in Vietnam.

What was probably meant as a put-on—but which came off as a put-down—spoofed the President of the United States by name in song and in a manner that seemed sneering and derogatory. It was part of a sketch that wound up with the cast romping around waving U.S. flags.

President Theodore Roosevelt was the first to have the name White House for the executive mansion engraved on his stationery.

'Tchaikowsky' Film Is Tiomkin's Repayment

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've been stealing long enough from Tchaikowsky; it's time I paid him back."

The man speaking—in semi-fractured English that is difficult to translate into print—was Russian-born Dimitri Tiomkin, veteran Hollywood composer and now executive producer of the first Russian-American co-production, "Tchaikowsky."

Bald, pockmarked Tiomkin is the man who delighted the 1954 Academy Award audience when he accepted his Oscar for the song "The High and the Mighty." Following the usual parade of winners who thanked everyone from their hairdressers to their mothers, the composer cracked: "I want to thank my coworkers who made this possible: Bach, Beethoven, Mozart."

Requires Year

Tiomkin hints that a bit of Tchaikowsky has invaded his many film scores ("Champion," "Lost Horizon," "The Alamo," "The Guns of Navarone," etc.). His repayment is on an epic scale. He is helping the Russians to spend $18 million in filming "Tchaikowsky."

"The filming is going nicely," he reported while here to confer with Warner Brothers-Seven Arts, which is releasing the film on this side of the Iron Curtain.

"We started shooting last June, and I expect the film will be completed next June. It is a

Paid $108,000 For Gold Collars

LONDON (AP) — A man who found five early Iron Age gold collars last October will be paid a $108,000 reward, the British Museum said Thursday night.

The museum said the money goes to Malcolm Tricker of Ipswich following proceedings in December at which the collars were declared treasure trove and thus government property.

The Iron Age began in Europe about 1,000 B.C. The five collars are similar to another found in 1950.

The museum, where the collars go on display Saturday, described them as outstanding examples of Iron Age craftsmanship.

Claims Timetable On 'Parochial'

LANSING (AP) — The committee to Advance Public Education (CAPE) Thursday charged that a timetable has been established for passage of legislation to give state aid to nonpublic schools.

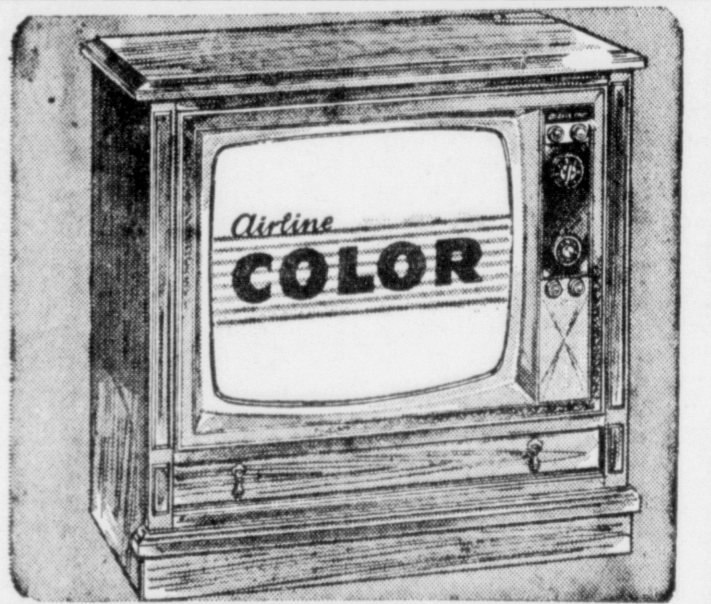

Martin Doctoroff of Royal Oak, an attorney and member of CAPE's board of directors, revealed a document that he said:

—Predicted weeks in advance what recommendations would be made by a joint House-Senate committee investigating the controversial issue.

—Stated within a few days when the committee would release its report.

—Described a letter-writing campaign designed to influence the governor and legislators.

Sen. Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, scoffed at the charges, saying that committee members had been airing recommendations as early as last Thanksgiving.

Strikes-n-Spares

The last week of bowling should be called "Pat Johnston Week" because what a week she had while bowling in six different leagues. Pat started out at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes Thursday afternoon with games of 212, 257 and 156 for a 635 series; bowled again Thursday night and had a 533 series; turned in a 214 game in a 589 series Friday night; moved over to the Continental Lanes Sunday night for a 603 series; back to the Bowl-A-Rama Tuesday afternoon and had games of 236, 221 and 203 for a 660 series and followed with a 224 game in a 595 series Tuesday night. Truly a "Pat Johnston Week."

Who said it's tough to pick up spares in the back row? Three bowlers this past week didn't think so. Joyce Viau got the 8-10 split Wednesday night at the Holiday Bowl; Rose Berrlund picked up the 6-7-8-10 Monday night at the Bowl-A-Rama; and Gary Sedenquist got the 7-9-10 split Tuesday night at the Bowl-A-Rama along with the 5-10 and the 4-7-9.

Kathy Schultz, carrying a 135 average in the Tuesday Early Bird League at the Holiday Bowl, bowled games of 175, 176 and 195 for a 547 series which totals out 142 pins over her average. On the same night Bette Lewis had games of 103, 104 and 105.

Eddie McCarthy Jr., a 15-year-old freshman at Holy Name High School, bowled his first games in the Holy Name High School League Wednesday night and rolled a 221 game and finished the night with a 161 average. It was the first 200 game Eddie has ever bowled.

Bob Karas of the Knott Pine team in the Bay de Noc League bowled a 186 triplicate Tuesday night at the Bowl-A-Rama.

Sunday night at the Bowl-A-Rama, Sharon Gough, carrying a 135 average in league competition, rolled games of 190, 210 and 204 for a National Honor Count series of 604. Also in the same league, Stan Paul had games of 209 and 247 in his 649 series and Jim Shomin had games of 182, 246 and 233 for a 661 series.

Dean Prazau turned in his first 600 series at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes Wednesday night when he scored games of 225 and 208 in a 626 series. Richard Palequin, bowling on the same night, had a 240 game.

Cheryl Criel seems to be following in her father's footsteps. Tuesday night at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes, Cheryl rolled a 223 game and she only carries a 112 average in the league. Her father Jack Criel, one of the top bowlers in the Classic League, followed in the second shift with a 259 game in a 653 series.

High games and series: Clara Kaltenbach 565; Red Holmes 213-234-643; Dr. Stanchina 212, 233-640; Matt Smith 236; Larry Shanahan 203, 202; Mary McGrath 205-506; Jack Holmes 226-627; Milly Schinzel 232, 210-655; Walter Beck 237-644; Russ Robitaille 244-609; Dave Johnston 229, 223-621; Walter Kulik 223-606; Jim Schultz 233; Runnar Beck 223; John Porath 224-602; Margaret Seidl 206, 207-574; Shirley Rolstad 214; Lois Cox 519; Barb Goslund 203-510; and Lorna Cutler 203.

Lombardi Picks Beban As Newest Golden Boy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vince Lombardi, chosen to lead Washington out of the Dark Ages in Football, is looking at Heisman Trophy bust Gary Beban as the new Golden Boy for the Redskins' revival.

Lombardi marched into the nation's capital Thursday to take command of the Redskins after a decade of unprecedented greatness at Green Bay and made Beban the focus of his very first move.

Calling for complete movies of Beban's play as a rollout quarterback for UCLA, Lombardi promised a long off-season study to decide where to use Beban—with the strong possibility of turning him into a runner. The move invoked immediate memories of 10 years ago when Lombardi arrived in Green Bay and took another Heisman Trophy quarterback off the bench to make him one of football's most celebrated ball carriers the Golden Boy—Paul Hornung.

Beban, unimpressive in his brief trial as a rookie pro quarterback last year, scored more touchdowns as a runner at UCLA than he did by passing. Lombardi stressed the need for a strong running attack and said, "The running game is what football is all about. The more you run, the more hard-nosed you are."

The Redskins were dead last in running yardage in the National Football League last fall. Lombardi, who has never coached a loser in his lifetime, is taking over a team that hasn't had a winning season since 1955.

He will be executive vice president, coach and part-owner of the Redskins under a contract that may embrace as much as a million dollars in stock and long-term salary. "Washington is the world's capital," Lombardi said. "And we have plans to make it the football capital."

Ageless Gordie Howe Hits Hat Trick In Wings Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Gordie Howe, Detroit's ageless wonder scored three goals in leading the Red Wings to a 6-1 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

The 40-year-old Howe, playing his 23rd National Hockey League season, now has 28 goals for the season and 716 in his career, including 65 in the playoffs.

Frank Mahovich scored his 32nd and Dean Prentice and Bruce MacGregor each got their 10th for Detroit.

Prentice capped heavy pressure when the game was only 1:38 old and Howe scored his 714th goal at 12:47, pulling around Matt Ravlich and lifting a shot over goalie Dave Dryden's shoulder.

Mahovich split the Hawk defense with the second period only 23 seconds old, pulled Dryden and slid the puck behind him for the 335th goal of his career to give him ninth place on the all-time list.

Then Howe banged in an Alex Delvecchio rebound at 4:22 on a power play and completed his hat trick at 7:43.

Kenny Wharm ruined Roy Edwards' bid for a second straight shutout when he lifted in Stan Mikita's passout at 18:54 of the second period.

In other league action, St. Louis turned back a battered Boston team 3-1, ending a string of 13 Bruins victories and five ties that began Dec. 28 when St. Louis was the victim.

The setback—only the second since Dec. 8 for Boston—cost the Bruins a chance of breaking their own record unbeaten streak of 23 games set in 1941.

Runner-up Montreal remained in close pursuit of Boston by stopping Los Angeles 4-2 in the night's only other game.

Red Berenson slammed in two goals—his 24th and 25th of the season—to fire the Blues' triumph.

Boston grabbed a quick 1-0 lead on Glen Sather's goal, but the Blues tied in on Berenson's first goal and went ahead 2-1 on Berenson's other goal in the second period. Bill McCreary provided an insurance maker in the final session.

Goals by Yvan Cournoyer and John Ferguson in a span of 28 seconds midway in the second period powered Montreal past Los Angeles and boosted the Canadiens within six points of Boston in the East race.

Ed Joyal's goal gave the Kings a 1-0 lead in the middle period before Montreal's Dick Duff produced the equalizer. Cournoyer collected his 31st goal at 9:27 and Ferguson capped a power play at 10:05 to make it 3-1.

Bob Wall of Los Angeles cut the deficit but Jean Beliveau provided the clincher for the Canadiens as both teams bunched all six goals in the second period.

Bratkowski Rumored As Packer Grid Aide

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Quarterback Zeke Bratkowski will be named offensive backfield coach of the Green Bay Packers within the next few days, The Associated Press learned Thursday.

The decision on whether the backup signal caller will retire as a player or will become a player-coach has not been made.

Bratkowski, 37, refused to confirm that he will replace Tom McCormick, who resigned as a Packer aide last month.

"I haven't made a decision on retiring yet," the former Georgia star said. "My plans are going to revolve around the Packers' needs."

A source close to the National Football League team said it would probably not be decided until preseason practice this summer on whether Bratkowski will become a full-time coach or

Maloy, Davidson Topple Dayton In Last Seconds

By The Associated Press

First, Mike Maloy fixed a flat tire. Then he fixed Dayton's wagon.

Thursday was one of those days for the 6-foot-7 Maloy, star of the sixth-ranked Davidson Wildcats. But things got better, probably because they couldn't get much worse, although Dayton wasn't exactly wild about the way things turned out.

Fortunately for Davidson, Maloy's bag is playing top-notch college basketball and he did just that, scoring 23 points, including a last-second corner jump shot that gave the Wildcats a thrilling 64-63 triumph over the Flyers, who are ranked 19th in The Associated Press poll.

Other games involving Top Ten teams saw second-ranked North Carolina turn back Wake Forest 84-76 and No. 5 St. John's rout Rhode Island 73-66.

Maloy's troubles began when he had to return to Davidson's North Carolina campus for a psychology exam while the rest of the team flew to New York after Tuesday night's game at West Virginia.

A friend, Willie Pryor, was to drive Maloy to the airport for a 1:30 p.m. flight to New York. But Willie's car had a flat tire.

"Willie didn't even know how to fix the tire," said Maloy. "I had to do it myself."

Maloy finally showed up at the airport at 1:35, in time to see his flight disappear into the wild blue yonder. But he grabbed a 3:45 flight, hopped a cab to Madison Square Garden and arrived about an hour before game time.

"I was afraid I'd be hungry," he said, "but I had a couple of sandwiches on the plane and when I got here one of the managers gave me a ham sandwich." Then he proceeded to eat Dayton alive.

The Wildcats, 17-2, blew a 32-24 halftime lead and trailed 63-60 in the closing seconds. But Wayne Huckel scored with eight seconds left and then deflected Dayton's in-bounds pass to teammate Jerry Kroll, who spotted Maloy in the corner.

"I wasn't sure if I beat the buzzer," Maloy said. "I looked up and saw 62 on the scoreboard, but then I saw it change to 64."

North Carolina downed Wake Forest despite Charlie Scott's poorest night of the season. The Olympic hero managed only 12 points, nine below his average, but Bill Bunting, third in the nation in field goal percentage, paced the Tar Heels with 16 points.

St. John's had no trouble with GORDIE HOWE, the ageless wonder of the Detroit Red Wings, scored three goals last night in the Red Wings' 6-1 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks. The 40-year-old Howe has now scored 716 goals in his career and has 28 for the 1968-69 season. Howe, the greatest goal producer in NHL history, has played 23 seasons with the Red Wings.

Two Youngsters Picket For Pike

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was winding up a town meeting, held to discuss his $6.4 billion state budget, when he decided to recognize one more questioner.

He pointed to the rear of the auditorium where a group had sat throughout the 3-hour meeting holding aloft a sign that read: "Why not the pike?"

Most assumed it was some sort of protest but when the governor inquired, 11-year-old Christopher Noble and 8-year-old Bill Eaton had a simpler explanation: "We want the pike to be the state fish."

Dow Chemical Co. Cited For Pollution Violation

LANSING (AP) — Officials of Dow Chemical Co. are to appear Wednesday before the State Water Resources Commission to show cause why the Midland company would not be prosecuted for violating antipollution laws.

Improper discharge of a toxic substance from the company resulted in a fish kill in the Tittabawassee River last November, the commission said. This is the seventh such occurrence since 1964, all the result of human failure or negligence not lack of waste water treatment facilities, they said.

Dow officials are to report on what the company intends to do to prevent future incidents.

Also scheduled for the three-day meeting in Kalamazoo are appearances by representatives of three communities to answer the commission charge that they are discharging waste treatment plant effluent without adequate removal of phosphorus compounds.

The hearings are set for Hartford and the village of Paw Paw, both in Van Buren County, and New Buffalo, Berrien County.

Cite Townships
The Berrien County townships of Chikaming and New Buffalo will appear for individual conferences to show cause why they should not be declared in default of their commission orders. Each Township failed to submit construction plans for necessary facilities by the Dec. 1, 1968 deadline.

Statutory hearings also are set for Buchanan, Berrien County, and Coldwater, Branch County, on previous citations for discharging waste treatment plant effluent without adequate removal of phosphorus compounds.

Officials of Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., Detroit, are to appear before the commission to report on results of an engineering study to determine a solution to a problem of oil losses to the Detroit River.

Inconsistent
In other action, the Water Resources Commission will hear information concerning a plan proposed by the city of Warren, Macomb County, for control of pollution.

The commission last month found the city's official plan, required by statute, to be inconsistent with proper regional pollution control and denied a request for certification of the city's application for federal construction grant funds.

The commission also will consider issuing a final order requiring pollution abatement by the village of Sebewaing, Huron County and issuing notices to Eaton Rapids, Eaton County; the village of Portland, Ionia County; and Delhi Township, Ingham County.

More Savings Bonds Redeemed Than Sold

NEW YORK (AP) — Have U.S. savings bonds become victims of a poorly controlled U.S. fiscal policy? One month's figures don't make a trend, but they do suggest that this could be so.

More U.S. savings bonds and Freedom Shares were redeemed than purchased last month, which isn't uncommon. In December the loss was $11 million. But the January outflow of $61 million was the biggest in at least six years.

The outflow, which may be the greatest since Series E bonds were introduced 28 years ago, is not likely to turn into a flood, because there are many reasons for buying bonds: tax savings, the convenience of payroll deduction, patriotism. But the loss is of more than casual interest.

Better Rates
One of the most logical explanations is that investors found more lucrative interest rates elsewhere. And interest rates, we are reminded almost daily, are rising because of inflation.

But is government the cause of inflation? To a very large extent. Heavy government spending, sometimes greater than revenues, has been the strongest inflationary factor during the past two or three years.

Another inflation-related reason is offered in explanation. Big bills were run up by consumers during Christmas, bills that, because of inflation, were higher than a year earlier. Very likely bonds were cashed to pay these bills.

It can be argued that the decline was to be expected, because savings bonds outstanding in December was a record $51.89 billion. But records are common in an economy growing larger every year.

Freedom Shares
Adding to the January redemptions, ironically, were some Freedom Shares, introduced in 1967 at a higher interest rate in hopes of spurring sales. Now, despite the higher rate, some are showing up in the opposite column.

Freedom Shares can be bought only in conjunction with a similar size or larger purchase of a Series E bond. The Freedom Shares, if held to maturity in 4½ years, provide 5 per cent interest. The Series E bonds, if held to maturity in 7 years, yield 4.25 per cent.

There is another popular savings bond, the Series H. Unlike the Series E, in which interest accumulates and is paid on redemption, the interest on the Series H bond is paid every six months. It, too yields 4.25 per cent.

These are the highest rates ever paid on savings bonds. But, a lot of people ask, what is the return to me from a 4.25 per cent bond when inflation can erode consumer buying power by 4.7 per cent in one year?

Student Gulps 210 Goldfish

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A 19-year-old college student from Texas has managed to make his mark without picketing, protesting, sitting in or shouting slogans. He simply swallowed a lot of goldfish—210 of them to be exact.

While many of his colleagues at colleges and universities from coast to coast were demonstrating for a variety of causes, Charles Winfield put on his own exhibition Thursday.

During an hour and 40-minute period, Winfield, a sophomore at St. Mary's University in San Antonio, swallowed one after another of the live fish while about 200 cheering students and faculty members looked on.

University officials—probably relieved at not being asked to relinquish control of the school—claimed his feat was a world's record. They said the previous record was 199, set in 1966 by a student at St. Francis College in Philadelphia.

Winfield, a native of Pharr, Tex., said he practiced for some time for his feat. "I ate a lot," he said, "and tried not to think about it."

The 145-pound youth managed to down the first 100 fish with ease. Observers noted, however, that he appeared slightly ill when he reached the 180-fish point.

Romney's Stand Irks Proxmire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire today criticized statements by Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney that public housing goals set by the Johnson administration are unrealistic.

"I hope that the Nixon administration will not adopt a policy of despair or permit a defeatist attitude to weaken the national commitment to better housing," the Wisconsin Democrat said in a letter to Romney.

Proxmire said that while he agrees "we should not raise false expectations or promise more than we can deliver" he feels "The frustrations and the tensions in our inner cities will also increase if we do not make a maximum effort to achieve our housing goals."

Proxmire said he feels that the goal of six million new units in 10 years is "attainable, given the resolve to request and secure the necessary funds." He asked Romney to give assurances funds for low income housing programs will not be cut.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Donald L. Kaminski of Alpena, Michigan's second heart transplant patient, goes home from University of Michigan hospital today after making what doctors described as an excellent recovery.

Kaminski, who celebrated his 39th birthday recently, received the heart Dec. 2 of a college student who was killed in a traffic accident.

Meanwhile, Philip T. Barnum of Kalamazoo, Michigan's first heart transplant patient, returned to the hospital this week for a routine checkup. He is expected to return home after the weekend.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS CHATHAM TELEPHONE COMPANY
Chatham Telephone Company is making a substantial investment in additional telephone plant and facilities so as to enable it to provide all one-party service throughout its exchange areas at uniform rates without reference to locality rates and without application of exchange line mileage charges. To make this program economically feasible, it is necessary for the Company to revise its rates in all exchanges. Following are the present and proposed rates and their effects on the Company's existing subscribers. These rates would take effect in a given exchange at the time the new service is made available to at least 20% of the exchange customers. In no case, however, will an individual subscriber be charged until the service is available to him.
